WEEKLY NEW ERA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

HOPKINSVILLE, CHRISTIAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1906.

VOLUME XXV, NO. 45

SENATOR M'CREARY

WILL SPEAK IN HOPKINSVILLE
THIS AFTERNOON.

Statesman and Patriot of National Renown and One of Kentucky's Most Distinguished Citizens.

Senator James B. McCreary will speak in Hopkinsville this afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock, in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, to succeed himself. Senator McCreary has served Kentucky one term in the senate and is asking for an endorsement. Since his opponent, Gov. Beckham, spoke here recently special interest in the appointment has been aroused, and people will be attracted to the city from every section of the county.

The Confederate veterans and their friends are particularly anxious to welcome Senator McCreary, who entered the army as a private and by great bravery and gallantry won promotions until at the close of the war he was a lieutenant colonel.
As a statesman, patriot and Democrat, Senator McCreary's fame is national and he is one of Kentucky's most distinguished citizens.

To the Daughters of the Confederacy.
The Ned Meriwether Bivouac has invited the Christian county chapter of the U. D. C., to hear Senator McCreary speak on Friday.

While the U. D. C. has no political creed or affiliation, there can be no doubt that many of the ladies will be glad to accept the invitation to hear a man whose record as a soldier is well known and whose services to the state have ever been conspicuous.
A place will be reserved, and the members of the U. D. C. are requested to wear their badges.

DOING GREAT WORK

The state department of agriculture, labor and statistics is receiving very satisfactory reports from the series of farmers' institutes which are being held over the state. Lecturers, who are experts in their lines, are instructing the farmers along lines which will prove helpful and profitable to them in all departments of farm work.

In Christian county there will be two institutes next month. The first will be held at Church Hill, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 12 and 13, and the second at Pembroke, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 16 and 17.

There are now four forces of lecturers in the field. Assistant Agricultural Commissioner R. C. Cre-shaw, of Christian county, assisted by Profs. Scherffus and Goppe, of the State college experiment station have been doing some good work in the extreme western portion of the state.

Three good lecturers, H. P. Melter, of Ohio, J. P. Davis, of Indiana, and S. E. Strode, of Ohio, are in Central Kentucky.

The eastern part of the state is not being neglected. J. K. Walker, of Christian county, Prof. L. R. Rouse-bush, of Ohio, and E. W. Robinson, of Ohio, conducted institutes Thursday and Friday of the past week at London, Laurel county. They are now in Clay county. It requires a whole day to cross the mountains on horseback to this appointment.

At Inez, in Martin county, institutes were held Friday and Saturday by C. B. Lyon, of Indiana, M.
F. Johnson, president of the state horticultural society, and C. E. Martindale, of Ohio. They will be joined at Paintsville, Johnson county, by Prof. Frank Blackford. Institutes will be held there this week.

Papers in all counties of the state where the institutes have been held are highly complimentary of the methods employed to assist the farmers, and tell of the appreciation of the farmers for the good work.

At Kuttawa, in Lyon county, a big celebration is to be held in honor of the formation of a Farmers' state Organizer M. W. Neal but the celebration is to be held display of stock made.

Salesman Jarrett of the Planters' Protective association has sold 700 hogsheads of tobacco this week at prices ranging from 7 1/2 to 12 cents.
Further important sales before the end of the week are assured. The prices are giving general satisfaction to the sellers, being an increase of from one to two cent over the same grades last year.

FROST VERY HEAVY TOBACCO MEN MEET

AND VEGETATION THROUGHOUT
THIS REGION IS KILLED

Much Damage in The County.—Snow Fell in Some Parts of The State.

(From Thursday's Daily)

Outstanding vegetation of every kind was given its quietus last night by the heavy frost which covered housetops and low places this morning to such an extent that it resembled a light fall of snow.

Much damage will be suffered throughout the country as considerable tobacco, sorghum and pea hay had not been housed, to say nothing of smaller vegetables.

Weather Forecaster Randle reports that the government thermometer registered 24 degrees last night.
This is unprecedentedly cold weather for this region in October, and it is probable that few fully realized how cold it really was.

The prediction for tonight and tomorrow is, "Fair and warmer, with frost tonight."

There was a light fall of snow yesterday in and around Louisville and in the mountain regions of Kentucky. This breaks all records for early snowfalls. In its report of general weather conditions the state
weather bureau says:

"There has been a decided fall in temperature over the Mississippi valley and westward to the Rockies, and heavy or killing frosts are reported from all the interior and Northern states."

GROWERS BRANCH OF A. S. OF E.
AT CLARKSVILLE, TENN.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 11.—
The third annual convention of the National Tobacco Growers' branch of the American Society of Equity convened at the opera house.
The convention was called to order by the president, E. L. Davenport, of Cincy, Ky. About 150 delegates from Indiana, Tennessee and Kentucky were present, and representatives from other states are expected.
Prayer was offered by Rev. William Richardson, of the Presbyterian church, after which Hon. H. N.
Leech delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the city. The address was well received and generously applauded.

National Organizer H. B. Sherman, of Greensburg, Ind., replied to the address of welcome. He said in part:
"The purpose of former organizations of the planters has been to build themselves up by pulling others down. Our policy is different.
We propose to organize, put a fair price on our products, and say to all corners, like the Chinese laundry-man, 'No money, no shirtee.' Then the world must pay our price or do without. Our principles are sound and business-like, and our organization has not a single feature that is open to objection. Nor has there been a practical idea advanced in years for the control of crops and prices that did not originate with the A. S. of E."

M. A. Stratton, representing Mayor M. C. Northington, who is out of the city, presented to President Davenport the keys of the city, and President Davenport responded briefly but appreciatively.

At the afternoon session J. A. Ev-ett, of Indianapolis, national president of the A. S. of E., spoke briefly, saying in part:

"Great mistakes have been made in agriculture in the past, and much of the farmers' earnings have been lost because of these mistakes. One purpose of the A. S. of E. is to prevent such mistakes in the future.
Such a strong national organization is needed to prevent legislation immune to the farmer's interest, and to see that his interests are conserved."

The speaker referred to the railroad rate bill, pure food law, inspection bill and denatured alcohol bill, intimating that in each case the law, supposed to have been in the interest of the people, was in reality for the benefit of the corporations.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 11.—
Each of the two Presbyterian synods to establish the Woman's College of DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 11.—In the presence of sixty pupils of the south Euclid school Harry Smith shot and killed Miss Mary Shepherd, a teacher, who had refused to marry him. When about to be arrested at his home, two hours later, Smith shot himself through the head dying instantly.

COME, TAKE A TRIP AROUND THE TOWN

That citizen of Hopkinsville who has not made a trip over the city and viewed the many improvements of every kind which have either been made already or are now under way has missed a sight which would amply repay him for the trip.

On every hand are many and varied improvements which all tend to make Hopkinsville one of the most beautiful as well as one of the most up-to-date cities in the state. These improvements are not of the temporary order at all, but everything is put up on a substantial plan and will stand for years to come, thus guaranteeing the future size and welfare of the city.

The West Side.

It is hard to tell just where to begin to enumerate the various improvements, but probably no section of the town shows a bigger come out than does the West Side. There is now a picture in this office, which was not taken so many years ago, either, which shows this entire section as a woodland, the only house across the river being the old Jessup place just the other side of where the tabernacle now stands.

Today, though, this portion of the city, while probably not presenting as many pretentious and costly residences as some other sections, is built up closely with tasty and neat homes which afford shelter for that class of people who are really the life and sinew of a city—those who are not what is termed wealthy but whose income is ample for their support and for the laying up of something each year. These homes are all kept in the pink of condition and those who dwell in them reflect their good living in the happy and care-free manner in which they go about their daily avocations.

Jessup avenue, Cleveland avenue, Elm street and West Seventh are all thickly populated thoroughfares. O'Neal avenue, formerly less than two squares in length, has now been lengthened out to Seventh street and is already thickly studded with houses. The lots which were sold several months ago off of the Fowler and McPherson addition are being rapidly built up, there being a number of neat cottages now in course of erection.

The West Side school building has probably had a great tendency to increase this portion of the city in public favor, affording as it does a desirable location for a home within easy access of a school. This building cost the city $20,000 and is an exact duplicate in every detail of the Virginia school which was erected several years ago and which has since proven so thoroughly satisfactory.

The council has already taken definite steps toward the widening of the bridge over the river and when this is done and the present dangerous conditions caused by the narrow passageway over this stream are done away with the popularity of this section will be further extended.

Around Seventh Street.

While so much can be said of West Seventh street the improvement is just as great on East Seventh. Here the improvements have been more pretentious possibly than on the other end.

South Kentucky College, of course, comes in for a large share of the credit for the improved appearance of this section. The remodeling of the old Main building which was partially destroyed by fire last November, the erection of the girls' dormitory, the painting of the boys' dormitory, the doing away with the fences and the grading of the yard had the effect of greatly adding to this property which before was considered most beautiful. When the campus is covered with blue grass, a stone wall is erected about it and other contemplated improvements are made this will indeed be an enchanting view.

Belmont street, running in front of the college, has been graded down about two feet and the triangular lot between it and Ninth street has been inclosed with a stone wall on the Ninth street side and graded and otherwise beautified to serve for the present as a public park.

On Seventh street no new buildings of importance are noticed, but this street leads all the rest in the tearing down of fences, the erection of stone walls in front of the premises and the putting in of concrete walks. The residents of this section were the leaders in the anti-cow movement and they made many promises of what they would do if the council would forbid cattle running at large on the street. They have made good their promises to the letter and this part of the town is a joy to behold.

Up until a comparatively short time ago residences were few and far between west of South Main street with the exception of a cluster right around Bethel Female College. Now, however, things are different and this part of the city is thickly built up with neat, attractive and comfortable homes as far out as the site of the old toll gate on the Canton pike. These streets between Canton pike and Main street are now beautiful avenues between rows of homes which afford shelter to quite a considerable portion of Hopkinsville's citizenship.

Campbell's Boom.

On Campbell street Mr. F. J. Brownell is erecting two handsome cottages of concrete blocks. When completed they will close the only gap in this street and will make it take its place as one of the prettiest streets of the city, which also is one of the busiest, having, as it does, a large warehouse, a mammoth tobacco rehandling house and the immense plant of the Acme Mills & Elevator company.

At the end of Campbell street, the old baseball park is gone forever. This was sold as building lots by the American Snuff company, by whom it was bought as a site for their rehandling plant. Having decided to locate their plant on the belt line the snuff company cut the park up into lots and sold them at auction. No buildings have been erected thereon but fences have been built in anticipation of more substantial improvements to be made later on.

The Belt Line.

The Illinois Central belt line has been completed practically to 18th street and has opened up to manufacturing enterprises ample ground to accommodate all that come for many years yet. At the end of the belt line comes within three feet of the right of way of the L. & N. and is so laid that physical connection can be made with that road in a very short time and at comparatively no expense. For the business interests of the city it is to be hoped that the L. & N. will soon give their consent for this connection to be made so that shipping facilities may then be had over either line.

Already three monster plants are being erected upon the belt line.

The foremost of these is that of the American Snuff Co. Already their main building, built in the shape of an "L," with smaller buildings in the rear, is under roof. This building is of brick and two stories in height. Besides this another of about the same size will be built across the belt line from it and three or four smaller buildings will be erected between. This plant will be equipped throughout with the most approved machinery for handling tobacco, including hydraulic presses. It will handle about 5,000,000 pounds of tobacco each year and will employ about a hundred and fifty people. It will run practically all the year.

Across Twenty-first street from the American Snuff company's plant will be the big wagon factory of the Forbes Manufacturing company. The stone foundations for this building have already been laid and the laying of the brick walls begun. This building will be 316 feet long, fronting on Twenty-first street and running back 160 feet, it being built in the shape of an immense letter "E." Nothing but the very finest machinery for the manufacture of the Mogul wagon will be installed in this factory, which will have a yearly capacity of 10,000 finished wagons, an increase of 7,000 over their present plant.

Beside the wagon factory a big hub and spoke factory will be erected which will not only furnish the wagon factory in this line but will also have sufficient capacity to do a large export trade. Then there will be an have added several thousand dollars worth of new machinery to their flour mill. In addition to this they intend to put in up-to-date machinery for the manufacture of wooden blankets, linseys, etc., thus opening up another industry to Hopkinsville.

The plant of Wallace & Adcock, which was originally built for the manufacture of staves and heading, has been greatly enlarged and the business extended. A big saw and planing mill has been bought and installed and in the future the company will handle lumber of all kinds on a large scale. Their stove factory has already established itself and not only furnishes the local mills with their barrel material but also ships large quantities.

The Louisville & Nashville railroad company recognized some months ago the increasing popularity of Hopkinsville as a shipping point and the necessity for more adequate shipping facilities, so they have put it long extra sidings across the river north of town. These tracks have now been completed and are in every-day use. It is said that the officials of this line have Hopkinsville in view for more important improvements in the near future, among which is the building of that new depot and the placing of sheds over the tracks and platform. This, however, is without official confirmation.

The Forbes Manufacturing company will, in addition to their big factories on the belt line, erect a big two-story brick office and storage this line until now he has one of the largest and most prosperous businesses in the state. He has this season remodeled and rebuilt his houses until now every inch of space on his lot is taken up and he has thousands of feet under glass. It is a regular treat to go through his houses and inspect the many beautiful flowers which are constantly in bloom there in. His business has now attained such proportions that he supplies Clarksville, Madisonville, Henderson, Princeton, Cadiz and many other towns of this section with practically all their cut flowers and funeral designs.

In mentioning the greenhouses, though, the Savage Floral company and Oaklawn Greenhouse must not be omitted. These companies have also made many improvements in their places and have built additional greenhouses until they, too, are capable of furnishing large orders for flowers and designs on short notice.

The gas and electric light plants of the Hopkinsville Gas & Electric company having been acquired by the city light company, they too will come in for their share of the general making better which is going on. New machinery will be installed in both these plants, and new wiring and new gas mains will be put in wherever needed and both lines extended to those streets which are not now supplied. The present old style street lights will be replaced as rapidly as possible with modern lamps which do away with the horrible shadow which now is ing of houses, fences and outbuildings, the sodding of lawns, the planting of trees, etc., etc.

The demand for houses has far exceeded the supply and it is now a case of take what you can get and not what you want. New buildings are going up at a rapid rate but even with the contracting firms putting forth every effort the demand cannot be met and the cry for homes is increasing all the time.

Property has increased in value wonderfully during the past few years. Desirable lots are being held at fancy figures, while in some sections they are not for sale at any price.

Business houses also are in demand and although there have been a number of business changes this year and houses vacated, some one else was ready every time to take possession. The business men generally have enjoyed the most prosperous year in their history and there has not been one of the old "dull seasons" which came at regular intervals in former years and which were looked forward to with so much dread.

This prosperity is not confined to the town, but good crops and better prices have brought good times to the farmers and they are in just as good a financial condition as are their town brothers.

During 1905 it was estimated that $500,000 was spent in new buildings. This year the amount will exceed last year and there is just no telling what figure it will reach in 1907. The brightest outlook ever enjoyed by the city is now before it and every citizen should put forth every effort for "Greater Hopkinsville."

NEW HOME OF ELKS

WILL BE READY FOR OCCUPANCY
NEXT MONTH

Lodge and Club Rooms Will Be In Building Purchased From E. M.
Flack on Ninth Street.

Hopkinsville lodge No. 545, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will move next month from their present quarters in the Planters' Bank & Trust company building to their new home, the former Flack block, on Ninth street. The lodge purchased the building several months ago from E. M. Flack, and a large sum of money will be expended in fitting the second story for club and lodge purposes. There will be a large and commodious auditorium for the lodge, a dining apartment, billiard parlor, card room, kitchen, property rooms, pantry and bath rooms. The home will be handsomely furnished and equipped with all modern comforts and conveniences. The stairway leading to the rooms will be widened. Hester & Thompson have the contract for making the improvements and a large force is at work. The home will be ready for occupancy on November 1.

The Hopkinsville lodge is one of the most flourishing fraternities in the state, its membership being composed of prominent and progressive citizens, from 21 to 75 years young.

COMING TO THE SOUTH.

BREMEN, Oct. 5.—As the first step in the development of the emigration to the southern part of the United States the North German Lloyd steamship company will send the steamer Wittekind to Charleston on Oct. 18 with several hundred emigrants on board.

WEST SIDE PUBLIC SCHOOL.

up-to-date band saw mill which will do high grade sawing of all kinds to furnish the planing mill with lumber as needed. Lumber sheds covering hundreds of feet of ground will be erected, the first of these now being practically completed. Besides all this several cottages will be built which will be rented out to employees of the mill. This plant will be one of the largest in the South and when completed will cover all of the field formerly belonging to the Hopper property, with the exception of the lower corner, which has been sold to the Climax Milling company.

The Climax Milling company will be another great addition to the city's manufacturing enterprises and is another indication that Hopkinsville is destined to become one of the greatest milling centers of the country. It is a fact that "Hopkinsville flour" is now regarded all through the South as the best that can be obtained and everything points to more mills in the future, none of which would interfere with those already here as the field is more than ample to accommodate the output of them all.

The foundations for the Climax mill are now being put in and the walls will be added as soon as possible. This mill will be 4 stories high and built of brick and when completed will be fitted throughout with the latest milling machinery, all of which will be built especially for this mill. In addition to the mill building proper there will be an elevator containing eleven grain bins with a combined capacity of 10,000 bushels, a big warehouse, stables, etc. These buildings are to be completed by January 1 and the machinery will be installed in plenty of time for next year's wheat crop.

Large Enterprises.

The James Cates' Milling company which has recently been incorporated, has also been doing some improving. They have built a grain elevator with a capacity of 30,000 bushels, have moved some of their smaller outbuildings around and house on a portion of the lot which they have purchased from Mrs. W. M. Hill on South Main street.

Beautiful Church.

On Sixth street one of the most pronounced improvements has been made, this being the addition to Grace church. This addition is a model of architectural beauty and it will be one of great benefit to the church in giving much needed room. This building is about completed on the exterior and it will only be a short time until it will be turned over to the church for their use. A handsome pipe organ will also be installed, which will then make this church more popular than ever, it having always been especially regarded for the sake of its beautiful music. The exterior of the old church has recently been painted and when the concrete walks are laid all about the property it will present a most delightful appearance.

Few people in Hopkinsville really are aware of what size and scope Metcalfe's greenhouses have grown. Starting with one small and unsightly built greenhouse, Mr. Metcalfe has rapidly broadened out in thrown under each light by the circular bottom pieces. These lights will also be of a higher power, thereby giving better and more light.

The Commercial and Savings bank has been added to the financial institutions of the city this year and has proven the need for a bank of this kind by its immediate popularity.

The Bank of Hopkinsville and the City Bank buildings have been remodeled and there are no handsomer bank buildings in the state. This now completes the remodeling or rebuilding of the bank buildings and no town in the entire country can boast of more beautiful or up-to-date structures or a more capable or accommodating set of officials than can be found in Hopkinsville.

Improvements Everywhere.

Go where you will about Hopkinsville—and the same is true everywhere—improvements on every hand. Those streets which have not been especially mentioned show marked improvements of every kind, such as the tearing away of fences and the enclosing of yards with low stone walls, the replacing of brick pavements with concrete, the paint-

GRID JURY REFUSES TO IN-DICT JOHN GOODENeo He Shot is Still Alive.—Left Side of Face Was Torn Away.

We, the grand jury of Christian county, September term 1906, having examined and heard all the witnesses in the case of the commonwealth vs. John T. Goode, refuse to add a true bill against him and said charge is dismissed.

BUCKNER LEAVELL, foreman. The above is a copy of the report made by the grand jury late Saturday afternoon after it had investigated the charge of shooting and wounding with intent to kill which had been entered against John T. Goode, the white man who shot Lindsey Leavell, alias Crab, who, it is alleged, had grossly insulted the former's wife Friday afternoon while her husband was absent from home. Immediately after the grand jury made its report in the case Judge Cook ordered that Mr. Goode, who had been in jail all day since he had surrendered early in the morning, should be released and he at once mounted his horse and taking a shotgun with which he attempted to kill the negro, he left for his home and family.

The physician who attended the negro states that he is shot in the arm and side and that the left side of his face is almost entirely cut away. His condition is regarded as very serious but if any change appears this morning it was for the better. The negro is lying in a cabin on the farm of R. K. Mcrae, Jr.

When a horse is so overworked it is down and in other ways declares its inability to go further you would consider it criminal to use force. Any man of humane impulses who would willingly harm a kitten guilty of cruelty where his own stomach is concerned. Overdriven, overworked, when what is needed is something that will digest the food and help the stomach to cooperate. Something like Kodol for dyspepsia that is sold by Anderson & Fowler Drug Co., Inc., and L. L. Elgin.

BUTCHER SHOPS CLOSED

Will Not Be Opened On Sundays Again
For Six Months.

The butcher shops of Hopkinsville were closed tight Sunday and this will be the case every Sunday from until April 1, 1907. This is in conformity with a city ordinance which orders that all meat shops shall be closed on Sunday for the six winter months of the year, but allows them to open during the warm weather.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change. Ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness. As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Half a million women and men have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label.

IMPORTANT DISTRICT AND STATE MEETINGS.The Question of Closer Relations of the Various Bodies of the Denomination to Come up.

The Muhlenberg presbytery will meet to-night in Greenville. The Ninth St. Presbyterian church will be represented by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. E. Fogartie, and Elder J. E. McPherson.

The question of a closer relation of Presbyterian bodies will likely be an important feature of the meeting. Dr. Fogartie and Mr. McPherson will go from Greenville to Henderson to attend the Kentucky Synod, which will open tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock with a sermon by Dr. Boggs, of Cattleburg, the retiring moderator. After the sermon the permanent organization will be effected and the synod will get down to business on Wednesday. Something over a hundred of the prominent Presbyterians of the state will be in attendance.

The fall meeting of the Louisville presbytery has just adjourned at Hawesville. Saturday there was a discussion of the federation, or articles of agreement on the reformed faith, looking to a union of those of various Presbyterian beliefs. This discussion was led by Col. Bennett H. Young of Louisville, assisted by the Rev. William Crow, opposing the proposed federation, and Col. Thomas Bullitt and Dr. J. S. Lyons, championing the cause of closer relations. A resolution carried by a vote of 23 to 5 favoring the articles of agreement.

The Princeton presbytery, U. S. A., will be held in Princeton tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. The program includes a sermon on "Evangelism" by Rev. E. H. Bull, devotional exercises by James A. Hill, an address on church finances by James West and an address on Sunday school and young people's work by Judge J. I. Landies.

The Louisville Presbytery meets in the Fourth Ave. church at Louisville Tuesday night. Elder W. S. Davison, of the First Presbyterian church of this city will attend. The matter of union of the Cumberland Presbyterian and Northern Presbyterian churches makes the meeting one of much importance.

The members of the entertainment committee for the Kentucky synod are requested to meet in the Sunday school room of the C. P. church Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. The full committee is requested to be present as important business is to be transacted.

DO NOT BE A BURDEN.

L. L. Elgin Give Some Good Advice to Readers of the New Era.

A weak stomach and its resulting ills are not natural. With proper care and the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets, the very worst case of indigestion or stomach trouble can be completely cured.

It is a sin to deprive oneself of enjoyment in life and become a burden to others through indigestion.

The backaches, headaches, distress after eating, loss of appetite, gulping up of undigested food and gases are not natural. Mi-o-na stomach tablets used for a few days before meals will so strengthen the digestive organs that you can eat anything you want without fear of distress or resulting sickness.

The directions for taking Mi-o-na emphasize the difference between this remedy and the ordinary medicine that is given for indigestion. Mi-o-na is to be used before meals, strengthening the digestive system for the food which is to be eaten, while the ordinary remedy is taken after meals, and simply digests the food without strengthening the stomach.

L. L. Elgin has so much faith in the merit of Mi-o-na that he will sell it under a guarantee to refund the money, in case it does not cure. A 50-cent box of Mi-o-na will do more real good than a dozen packages of the ordinary remedies sold for indigestion. Then, too, it costs nothing unless it cures. 8-18-29.

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. CARNIVAL AND FAIR

ALL NEXT WEEK WILL BE A GALA OCCASION.

The National Fraternal Union Secures Fine Attractions From All Over The Country.

All of next week the National Fraternal Union's fall carnival and county fair will engage the interest of Hopkinsville and Christian county.

The lodge is one of the most flourishing fraternities in the city and its membership consists of active and energetic citizens who propose to give the people of this region a splendid week of royal entertainment.

Instead of contracting with one amusement company to furnish shows, the N. F. U. adopted the plan of securing independent attractions with a view to having the most novel and pleasing carnival program that could be arranged.

Among the free acts will be Mon Samayon in his wonderful aerial performance; the Roman and Spanish trapeze; horizontal bar act with two acrobats and clown; and the great Harry Breton in his death-defying ride down a precipitous incline and leaping a chasm of thirty feet in an automobile.

Some of the leading pay attractions are Razzle Dazzle; merry-go-round; Ferris wheel; electric show; wild animal show; Rube, the bicyclist; the great Howard troupe; the Darnley trio; Palaro brothers; fun in the mill; the Palmers in a novelty ring and bar act; the flying Baldwin; the little heroine, M'sle La Blanche, and the peerless ride for life.

The carnival will take place at Mercer park. Of particular interest will be the county fair department.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 7.—In this sermon the preacher utters a whole-some warning against the common sin of uncharitable judgment of others. Last week, by such means, and the blessing that comes of venturing angelic unwariness. The text is Genesis xviii, 2. "And, lo, three men stood by him."

When a gentleman travels in the far east he does not stop at a public inn, but lodges with the people he meets on the way. Thus one day Abraham was sitting at the door of his tent. Off in the distance he sees three tall, slender men approaching. At once, according to the social customs then practiced and with the genial hospitality of the east, Abraham runs toward those three travelers and kneels at their feet and says: "Come and lodge with me. Tarry and rest yourselves and eat of my bread. After refreshing yourselves you can continue on your journey." The three travelers accepted this kind invitation. Abraham spread before his guests the best food he had. He killed a calf. His wife baked for them some hot bread. After the meal was over one of the strangers said, "Where is thy wife?" Abraham went and called Sarah. Then, as the three men were about to go, they said practically these words: "Oh, ye aged and childless ones, the dearest wish of your hearts is about to be fulfilled. In your old age you shall have a son." To make a long story short, Abraham and Sarah found out that their guests in human form were not simply three men, but three angelic messengers of God. What an inconceivable privilege that was! Let us think about it this morning, remembering that we, too, can entertain angelic messengers almost every day if we will. We can entertain them, as did Abraham, when strange travelers approach our dwellings and perhaps knock at the door for admittance. You may think these strangers are men, as did Abraham, but they are not. They are messengers of God. Thus the questions which now confront us all are: "Will we let in these angelic visitors? Will we receive from them the spiritual blessings which God intends us to get?" Shall we, in the first place, receive the angelic visitors who come from God dressed in the rough garments of poor men? These messengers come to us almost daily, as the three strangers came to Abraham in olden time. As we approach the Hebrew patriarch's tent we see him sitting under the shadow of a tree. It is almost noon. The intense Syrian sun is beating down upon the plains. Most of the work was done. The shepherd's or the cattleman's day does not begin, as with many of us, at 8 or 9 o'clock. These men start their work very early in the morning. While it is yet dark the busy wives and daughters are up preparing the early breakfast. Then with the first light of the day the sheep and the cows and the horses begin to get restless. They want to get out and feed upon the rich grasses. Then the flocks and the herds begin to move, and by 10 o'clock the animals are well fed and are resting themselves under the shadows of the trees until late in the afternoon. Abraham, like a wise master, had seen that his herdsmen and shepherds had cared well for his stock. Then when the hot sun begins to beat down he goes back to his tent to prepare for dinner and take a rest and have a quiet chat with his dear wife Sarah, for though Abraham at this time was over ninety years of age and Sarah had passed her threescore years and ten, yet they were still lovers as when in their youth they had taken a journey into far-off Egypt and the king's messenger wanted to select Sarah for Pharaoh's bride.

The Three Travelers. While the busy Sarah is preparing the midday meal Abraham, sitting by his tent, suddenly puts his hand over his brow and begins to look. He seems to be watching something afar off. "What is it, Abraham?" says his wife. "Do you see any one coming?" "Yes," answers the aged lover. "I think I see three travelers. They are strangers to me. They must be poor men. They are coming afoot. In this country horses are so cheap that all except the poorest can own one. These men have not even a donkey with them. They must truly be very poor. I wonder if they have enough food along. Poor fellows! See how tired and hungry they look, Sarah. We have so much; let us give them a good meal and start them on their journey afresh. No man ought to be traveling in this awful heat." "All right, Abraham," I think I hear Sarah say. "All right. You go and ask them to tarry. I will hurry up and prepare some meal, and you send and kill a calf, and we will give them a feast fit for a king." Thus Abraham runs and salutes these strangers who are traveling afoot. He says, "Strangers, will you come and lodge with me?" Lesson the first. These three angelic messengers came to Abraham's tent afoot. They came as poor men. They came as God's messengers often come to us, when they look up into our faces and pityingly beg: "Will thou feed me? Will thou clothe me? I am God's poor. Will thou care for me?" "Oh, no," you answer; "that cannot be. You are only making a pretty figure of speech. An angelic messenger never comes clothed in rags. He may have come to an Abrahamic tent foot, but he certainly never comes to me as one of those dirty, filthy beggars who knock at my back door. He cannot come as the poor man with that sick wife and a large brood of children who live in our back street. Why, that man and his wife do not believe in God. They never read the Bible. They never pray. The angel of God never comes as a tramp or a pauper." Does he not, my brother? Does he not? Do not speak too quickly. What says Christ in the twenty-fifth chapter of Matthew? Does he say: "If you would find my messengers, you should seek them among the palaces and in the king's throne-rooms? You should seek them clothed in purple and fine linen?" Nay, that is not Christ's command. He says, "If you would seek my messengers, you shall find them clothed in rags and with the pinched cheeks of want and wandering around from street to street as did John Howard Payne, piteously looking at the frowns of happy homes and yet with no homes of their own." Have you not read the parable? "When I saw these an-hungred and fed these or thirsty and gave them drink?" When saw we thee a stranger and took thee in or naked and clothed thee? And the King shall answer and say unto you, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Does not Christ mean by these words that when you aid the poor you are looking after his messengers and caring for him?

The poor, the poor, the helpless poor! O God, they seem to be everywhere. They are thy angelic visitors. How many of them last year have we helped in thy name? Have we put one cloak about the bare shoulders? Have we lifted one morsel of food to the famishing lips? Have we gone to one helpless widow, struggling to keep a large family of little ones together, and said: "Sister, here is coal to keep you from freezing. Here are coverlets for your beds. Here are garments for your wardrobe. Here is food for your cupboard. Here is schooling for your children. I know that God has sent you to me that out of my abundance I may give you aid." Answer me friend, with all your money and with all your luxuries of the past year, did you go out of your way one step in order to help God's poor? Did you look after just one family when there are so many hungry and naked ones in the city where you dwell? What—did you not help feed just one hungry family? Then you have slammed shut your door of gospel opportunity in the face of the "angelic visitors." God's poor are always around. They have come to bring you a spiritual blessing from heaven, as the three strangers of old brought a divine blessing to Abraham and Sarah from their Master and King.

"Poor Fellows." But when this noble Hebrew herdsmen runs forward to prostrate himself at the feet of the three strangers I see him sharply scrutinize their faces. He not only sees that they wear the travel-stained garments of poor men, but he thinks I hear him mutter: "Poor fellows! Poor fellows! Perhaps they are exiles from their own country. Perhaps on account of a king's hatred they are fleeing for their lives. Perhaps they once had sheep and oxen and horses and manseverants, as I have, but now, on account of bitter persecution, they have lost all. I must be especially kind to these poor fellows who are fleeing for their lives." Cannot you imagine such thoughts passing through Abraham's mind as he runs forward to greet the three strangers? I can. And I firmly believe that when any man goes to the help of the persecuted and the unjustly treated he is welcoming to his home "angelic visitors," who will always bring to him a spiritual blessing from God.

How many people there are who are being unjustly persecuted! How many there are who are being lied about and misrepresented! Like the devils that were torturing the poor man's body, who was running naked among the tombs of the Gaddara dead, their names seem to be legion. Many of these poor fellows who are being unjustly treated are dying of broken hearts, as did the late Daniel D. Tompkins, who was one of the most pathetic characters of American history. In his prime no name was more powerful in the political world than his. He rose from office to office. At last he became governor of New York state and then vice president of the United States. The White House was almost his. But suddenly his enemies were able to head him off. Though his whole life stood for honesty and purity and truth, his political foes charged him with misappropriating some of the public funds when he was chief executive of New York state. He indignantly denied the charge, but he could not produce evidence to vindicate himself. His enemies had stolen it. His forehead, like that of Cain, had a black mark of guilt placed upon it, and he was shunned by his fellow men as an embezzler of public funds. Thus Daniel D. Tompkins was compelled to retire from public life and went down into a dishonored grave. Hardly had the grave closed over his body when vouchers were uncovered which proved not only that Daniel D. Tompkins had used the public funds aright, but that he had spent a large part of his own private fortune for the public good.

A Tragic Story. "Alas, alas," you say, "what a tragic story!" But the history of Daniel D. Tompkins is that of hundreds and thousands of men and women about us. Pure and true and noble are they. Not a dishonest hair is to be found in their heads. But people are whispering against their characters and whispering against their purposes of life and whispering against their homes. Though their enemies bring forth not one scintilla of proof of wrongdoing, yet we sit idle and utter not one protest in their behalf. Who is there that has the courage to stand up in defense of them? How often does it happen that some miscreant enemy traduces a man or woman by hints and innuendoes and the poison spreads stealthily through the community because it is not arrested at the beginning? When will every Christian perceive it to be his duty to defend the reputation of other people from charges in evil more gossip?

Furthermore, if you and I are only willing to go to the aid of those who are being persecuted God will not only personally bless us, but we will save many men and women who are being unjustly treated from entering a life of sin and crime. I was never more impressed with this fact than some time ago, when I was visiting an old Missourian. He was telling me the history of his life. He was a young boy at the time of the breaking out of the civil war. Any one who has read the history of Missouri knows that every man who lived at that time within the state's border was encouraged to don a soldier's uniform, and there were some who volunteered who had no other motive than to commit depredations upon that suffering people. Clad in that uniform, such men committed outrage and escaped punishment. Said this old Missourian: "The people did not see the regular soldiers. They were all right. But it was the thieves and the libertines who pretended they were regular soldiers that they feared. We were simply helpless in their hands."

Then he described how one night a lot of thieves clad as soldiers came to his father's house and literally took everything away. They drove his mother out in the winter's cold, and he died as a result of the exposure. They put a rope about his father's neck and dragged him about and threatened to lynch him. With the butt end of a gun they mashed one of his feet so that he was a cripple for life. Then they drove away every horse and cow and pig and chicken and burned up all the grain and the fences and the outhouses and left only the bare fields. "What did you do?" I asked. "Well," he said, "I was only a boy of fourteen. But my brother and myself joined the bushwhackers. We each took a gun and vowed that we would kill every northern man we met." "What then happened?" I asked. "Then the old man looked at me and answered: 'The most important part of my life. In St. Charles county there lived an old minister by the name of Rev. Mr. Blackwell. He was a northern man and a Republican. He heard what we two boys had done and he knew that if we continued as bushwhackers, we would end up in a life of crime, as did the James boys, who started out as criminals because their father and mother were treated as my parents had been treated. I used to know Jesse James' parents well. And I know that what I say is true. So at the risk of his own life Rev. Mr. Blackwell, a Republican and northerner, went into the mountains and hunted up our camp and said: 'Boys, I have come to save you. Come back and live with me. Because thieves and scoundrels have robbed your parents and killed your mother do not become criminals yourselves and die at the end of a hangman's noose.' And, sir, as the result of his plea we went back to Blackwell's home and went back to honesty and truth and right."

Saved His Life. "What became of Mr. Blackwell?" I asked. "He lived to be a very old man," was the answer. "A few years ago I went back to Missouri and hunted him up and begged him to come and live with me, but he was too old to come." Then a faraway look came into the old Missourian's eyes as he said: "Oh, I can never forget that man. By his willingness to lay down his life for me he saved my life and my brother's." Friends, are you men like this? Would you risk your lives to save another from sin and death? When men and women are being persecuted and outrageously treated and are trembling upon the brink of sin, are you ready to reach out your hand and say: "Brother, sister, come to me. Come into my home. Come and sit by my fireside. What I have is mine." If you will, you shall not only receive angelic visitors, who will bring a mighty blessing to your home, but you will save men and women and boys and girls for Christ. Your arm, your voice, your self sacrifice, may mean the temporal and the eternal salvation of immortal souls if in Christ's name you go to the aid. They are God's angels whom you may entertain as Abraham thought he was greeting the three travel-stained, homeless and perhaps persecuted and exiled strangers.

But, stepping out into the broader interpretation of my text, we assert that angelic messengers can approach our homes with the scowling visage of hate and with the clinched fist of anger, as well as in the fluttering rags of the pauper and the distorted, terror-stricken countenances of the persecuted. "Oh, no," you answer; "that cannot be. An angel is not a demon. An angel is one who would lead us to the higher life. How can the sullen brow of an enemy do this?" Well, my friend, let us turn again to the Bible. Study the most powerful and the most familiar sermon ever delivered—namely, the sermon on the mount, spoken a short distance from Lake Galilee. What did Christ say? Did he lay down the great doctrine that we should be kind to others just in proportion as others are kind to us? Did he say: "Men, be just to friend and foe. Never forget a kindness which a neighbor does you and never forget the injury of a treacherous foe?" Did he say: "Build a walled-in castle. Have the moat deep and wide. Have watchtowers above the walls, where you can always keep a lookout to lower the drawbridge for your allies, and have spears and swords and bows and arrows and stings with which to drive back those who have betrayed your trust?" No. That is not Christ's command. Listen how he describes the way in which you should welcome some of your angelic visitors. These are Christ's words, not mine: "Love your enemies." That means give them the best places at your table and your warmest welcome. "Bless them that curse you." That means go out of your way to speak a kind word for those who are denouncing you and trying to undermine your character. "Do good to them who hate you and pray for them which despitefully use you." Do you hear it? My Lord and my God, have we read the words aright? How few, how very few of us have welcomed at our doors those who have reviled us and persecuted us and have said all manner of evil things against us!

Now, you have read many essays and heard many sermons upon the theme, "The Blessings of Having an Enemy," but I want to tell you that the greatest blessing of an enemy after all is to teach us to forgive those people who have wronged us and who we expect God to forgive our trespasses. Unless we can learn this lesson of forgiveness we can never learn to be like Christ. Are you willing to live as that famous Irishman lived who recently passed away? Did you read the last will and testament of Michael Davitt? He did not have any money to give, for he spent most of his life in the struggle of home rule for the Emerald Island. So he made up his last will and testament thus: "I do wish I had it verbatim. He said in part: 'This is my last will and testament. I have not any money to give, but I leave my blessing to all mankind. I first ask forgiveness from all those whom I may have injured in life or toward whom I have acted unjustly. Then I leave my forgiveness to all those who have done me any injury. Then I ask that when my literary executor publishes hereafter any of my words he will cut from them any bitter words which might wound the heart of any living man or the hearts of the loved ones of any of my political foes.' Did you ever read a sentiment more beautiful and Christlike than that? My brother, you have greeted many friends in your home. They have dined with you and you with them. But have you ever spoken the words of a Davitt? Alas, if not, then I fear you have shut out 'angelic visitors,' who, if they should enter your home, would bring to you the greatest of spiritual blessings. These angelic messengers may be men who have spitefully injured you. Cannot you give them a loving welcome for Christ's sake, as Abraham asked the three strangers to rest with him under the shadow of his eastern tree?"

Should Not Hate Them. But should our hostility end here? Oh, no. If you turn to the fourteenth chapter of Luke you find these words: "When thou makest a feast or a supper, call not thy friends nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen nor thy rich neighbors, lest they also bid thee again and a recompense be made thee. But when thou makest a feast call the poor, the maimed, the blind, the lame and the blind? Are they slapping the poor who go around on crutches or feel their way with a staff? I think not. Christ would not here say 'the poor and the maimed and the halt and the blind' if that was the case. I think the maimed and the halt and the blind mean the moral cripples. I think these words to a great extent mean the spiritual outcasts. I think these words are like the words of the devoted Mary and Zachariah, whom honest people shun as the healthy physical man would run from a leprosy or a loathsome plague. Yes, we are to give a cordial welcome even to the vilest of sinners, such a welcome as Abraham gave the three strangers at his home.

These words mean that we should go forth in the name of Christ and try to save those who have sunk so low in the quagmires of sin that they are reeking with immoral filth, like wild beasts of prey, they seem to be staggering alone through a dark wilderness of despair. They seem to be alone, all alone in their crimes. When the great Roman orator Cicero was hurrying his condemnation against the sins of Catiline, so overpowering was the case that no senator would sit by the conspirator and destroyer of young men's virtues. One by one they left the bench upon which the cringing Catiline crouched. There he trembled, with no friend by his side, while the Edmund Burke of Caesar's reign was denouncing him as Warren Hastings centuries later was denounced in Westminster. Thus as we set the wrongdoer cringing under the lash as he sat alone we can see the modern Catilines shunned and forsaken on account of their sins. We can see the poor harlots, the brazen faced libertines and the immoral lepers reeking with sin Christ bids us to go to them, even to the maimed and the halt and the blind and give them a gospel salvation, as Abraham accosted the three angels.

All Prime Ministers. And, my friends, a sinner can never sink so low in that sinful degradation the true Christian may see the infinite possibilities of glory that will be found to Christ if his redemption could only enter that sinful soul. Friend, how is it with thy Christian life? Art thou opening wide thy doors? Art thou looking for the coming angelic messengers? Art thou trying to spy out these visitors from God when they are in the far distance? Art thou willing to run to them and greet them? Canst thou not see them? There they are in that dark alley. There they come down the street. Do you not see them? Where are they by your side now? Will you greet them and go after them in the name of Christ?

To Men Of Good Clothes Sense

Copyright 1906 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

JUST a few words about the Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes—a few of THEIR words and OURS; facts about ready-to-wear which every man of good sense ought to consider in buying clothes.

Always in position to command the best, we took hold of the Hart, Schaffner & Marx line early in the career of these manufacturing tailors, who are today famous all over America. Their goods were good enough to be placed among our leading lines; gave satisfaction to our customers; our trade in them has grown into something very substantial and we are the sole distributors for them in Hopkinsville.

Here's What Hart, Schaffner & Marx Say About Their Goods; and We Endorse It:

"As for style, many custom tailors get their ideas from our Style Book; we create styles, not copy them; our lowest-priced suits has the same style as our best. As for fit, there's not one man in a hundred who cannot be perfectly fitted from any representative stock of our clothes, without delay—tall, short, thick, thin; men of all types we make clothes to fit them. The hundredth man may have to wait a couple of hours.

"As for quality the common ground of objection to ready-made clothes, we are the recognized champions of the highest quality standard. In the midst of a flood of adulterated 'fabrics' of 'mercerized cotton' and cheaper mixtures, which has carried away nearly all the clothing makers of the country into the making of inferior quality, so as to make inferior prices, we have stood unshaken in a determination to use only all-wool, or wool and silk fabrics.

"That's where we stand now; no thread of cotton in any of our fabrics; all seems sewed with silk thread; not mercerized cotton that looks like silk; all 'silk' linings made of silk. The clamor for old prices and the very high price of wool, which has debased quality for so many of our competitors, have simply strengthened our position. We are making clothes that, in style, fit, quality, are good enough for any man, and not too high-priced for any man."

MEET HERE MONDAY

COUNTY UNION OF AMERICAN SOCIETY OF EQUITY

Comprehensive System of Reports on Supply and Demand.—Farmers Urged to Attend.

Monday, October 22, is the date set for the American Society of Equity meeting in this city, and then your representatives will leave for the great national convention of stock and grain growers at St. Louis, Ill. A crop report every day. This up-to-date farmer understands the value of a crop report from every farmer every day. This is exactly what it means when the American Society of Equity is completed. Everything is working to this end with great rapidity. How it will be done: The Society of Equity is organizing every farmer into local unions. The country will be divided into six districts and each district will have its headquarters. All these unions and headquarters will be presided over by the national union of A. S. of E. Most farmers have telephones now and the others will have when the A. S. of E. reaches them or they can report their crop by mail.

First, the local union knows what its members have to sell. Second, the county union knows every day how much of each farm crop is ready to market in the whole country and exactly where the supply is and on what railroad it can be shipped. Third, the headquarters knows every day how much of each farm crop is ready for market in all of the states and Canada. The report of demand and the distribution of the crop will be quite similar. Representatives in all the leading cities will report to the district headquarters. As the farmer will control the supply this report will easily be secured because whoever wants supplies must seek out the farmers' representatives. Then he will telephone out to the county unions and the county unions will telephone to the local unions or shipping stations to ship just enough supplies, and exactly to the spot where needed, to feed eighty-five million of people who are of farm products consumers. Up, farmers, up and attend our next meeting. If you don't take your own part, who is going to take it for you? Surely this is a grand work and it has now reached the point where the world recognizes its greatness and its grandness. Opposition has almost ceased and no well informed person can longer express a doubt as to its practicability and its ultimate success. Will you honor us with your presence?

NOMINATED ADAIR. PROSPECT IS ROSEY

SECOND DISTRICT REPUBLICANS FOR THE NOMINATION OF HON.
IN HOPELESS MUSS. R. C. CRENSHAW

Two Conventions Held and the Second
One Names Paul Moore to Max
The Race. A Farmer and the Friend of Farmers
He is Ideal Candidate For Agricultural Commissioner.

DAWSON SPRINGS, Oct. 10.—The Second district Republican congressional convention, held here yesterday, resulted in a split, the regular convention nominating John S. Adair, of Hancock county, to oppose Congressman Stanley, and a faction of the convention endorsing the candidacy of Paul M. Moore, editor of the Earlington Bee. The courts will probably decide which candidate's name shall go under the log cabin on the ballot.

It is claimed by friends of Moore that the time has passed for the certification of names to the secretary of state to be placed on the official ballot, and in order to have a candidate petitions were circulated and sufficient names were secured to insure Moore's name going under the log cabin. They then sought to have the convention ratify Moore as the nominee.

The opposition, however, led by E. T. Franks, of Owensboro, contended that the time has not yet passed for certifying candidates to the secretary of state. They objected to Moore on the ground, it is said, that he is a son-in-law of J. B. Atkinson, of the St. Bernard Coal company, who has been the head of the fight with union miners in the Western Kentucky district. The Franks faction contended that the endorsement of Moore meant a fling at the labor unions and would injure the chances of Dr. A. D. James, Republican candidate for congress in the Third district, and other Republican candidates for congress.

The convention was organized by the election of John C. Worsham as chairman, and Ellsworth McEwen as secretary. John Feland, of Christian county; M. K. Gordon, of Hopkins county; David Browning, of Webster county; and the Rev. P. H. Kennedy, of Henderson, appealed to the convention to ratify Moore's candidacy and petition filed with the secretary of state as the only means of having a Republican candidate on the ballot.

By a vote of 90 to 82 the convention, however, nominated Mr. Adair. When the convention adjourned delegations from Christian, Hopkins, Webster and a part of Henderson held a meeting and endorsed Moore's candidacy.

Feland and Browning were the only announced candidates against Moore and withdrew, urging his nomination.

REWARD INCREASED

On Friday last Governor Beckham directed an additional one hundred dollars to be added to the four hundred already offered for the capture of Godfrey Ray, wanted in Todd county for the murder of an officer a short time since. The total amount of the reward now outstanding is about seven or eight hundred dollars and should insure Ray's capture.

EVENT OF SEASON

The coming of the Nixon & Zimmerman opera company in the merry musical extravaganza "Simple Simon" Thursday, Oct. 18, will be the event of the season at Holland's opera house. The company numbers sixty people and to judge from newspaper reports and from what the dramatic papers say the show is a tremendous hit everywhere. The company plays two nights at Lexington during the trots and visits Evansville, Ind., Cairo, Ill., and Paducah before coming here. From here it goes to the Vendome Theatre and Nashville.

The friends of the Hon. R. C. Crenshaw, and that means the whole county, are highly gratified at the expressions heard from every part of the state favorable to his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for commissioner of agriculture. Mr. Crenshaw is growing stronger every day and those who have made a special study of the political situation say he is a sure winner. There can be no question about Mr. Crenshaw's superior qualifications for the office to which he aspires. Farming and farm matters have been a life-time study with him, and as assistant commissioner of agriculture he has demonstrated his splendid efficiency and his unwavering fidelity to the interests of the farmers. The present department of agriculture is doing a great work and is daily increasing in usefulness, and the credit, as is well known, is largely due to Mr. Crenshaw. He has rendered valuable service to the Democratic party and stands high in its councils. It will be recalled that when he made the race for state senator from the Sixth district in 1917, the district was regarded as Republican by a good majority, and no Democrat had held the office since 1881. Mr. Crenshaw was elected and his victory was a fine one. While in the senate his services for the state and for the party proved that he was the right man in the right place. He was a member of some of the most important committees, and he was tireless in his efforts to advance the interests of his constituents. Mr. Crenshaw has a wide acquaintance in Kentucky and is held in the highest esteem and confidence by everybody. He is an able and convincing speaker. He should receive the undivided support of the Democrats in this region.

SAYS SITUATION COULD NOT LOOK BETTER TO HIM.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: "With that old elastic soldierly step and cordial smile Senator James Bennett McCreary, of Kentucky, registered at the Grand hotel last evening on his way to speak at Carrollton today."

"The situation looks good to me," he said, "in truth it could not look better. I am perfectly confident of success and sitting easy in the saddle. I am in receipt of agreeable information from the First congressional district, the Gibraltar, that I will carry all the counties but two. The second district is solidly for me and so on elsewhere a plenty. Tuesday I go to Louisville to draw for my place on the ballot; Wednesday I speak at Williamstown, Grant county; Thursday, Winchester; Friday, Hopkinsville; Saturday, Shelbyville, and the following week in the western part of the state, beginning Monday at Mayfield, and so on to the end of the campaign."

"I try to get home by Sunday. My wife is just getting up from an illness, a prostration from the death of our daughter-in-law, who was the wife of our only child."

"A large delegation of prominent Democrats of Covington and Newport; Representative Virgil McKnight, of Maysville, and Luke Rice of Boone county, called on the senator and conferred with him at length, assuring him that everything is lovely in their respective balliwicks. He expressed his profound appreciation of their offers of support."

JAMES WATTS.

Jim Watts, a prominent citizen of the Shiloh Fork neighborhood, is to blows and Sam Watts struck his head with a rock, heart broken over his hasty action condition as a result of a blow on the head which was inflicted several days ago by his brother, Sam Watts.

On the day the trouble occurred, Jim Watts, who is unmarried, was visiting his brother and family.

They fell out over some family matters and angry words soon led to blows and Sam Watts struck his head with a rock, heart broken over his hasty action

Physicians stated yesterday that an operation was the only thing which would save his life but at the last reports this had not been agreed to by the wounded man's relatives.

The brothers are among the leading residents of that section and the trouble has caused general gloom. Sam Watts is said to be lying at his home in a critical condition.

You Should Attend Business College During the Winter.

THIS IS GOOD ADVICE, for during the winter there is not so much to attract your attention and occupy your time outside of school. During the black wintry days and long nights your time can be spent most profitably and comfortably before a good warm fire studying either Shorthand, Typewriting, Penmanship, Business Forms, Correct English, etc., all of which we teach. Each pupil is given individual instruction.

The lectures on Commercial Law, which are delivered one afternoon of each week by Mr. John Sites, a regular practicing attorney of the Hopkinsville bar, are most comprehensive and instructive.

Day sessions every day in the week except Saturday. Night sessions Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

Now is the time to enter. If interested call on or address

The status of the wearer of the army dress is up, and the New York Times thinks that the uniforms of the enlisted man, whether in the army or the navy, is the badge of the wearer's subordinate employment in an honorable and useful government service, one of the many such, and one of the least. It gives him certain special rights in his garrison or on his ship and deprives him of many individual freedoms that men elsewhere. It operates not at all to increase his moral civic privileges. Off duty and outside his garrison he counts merely as a man. Least of all is his uniform a social passport.

The Indian has played the great game of the world and has lost. The fittest has survived and always will. But that does not mean that a people that nominally perishes has served no good purpose or that it will disappear when it has ceased to be a race, says the Kansas City Journal. The Indian has a past that is splendid in a barbaric sense. He has a future that is splendid in a civilized sense unless we are to concede that barbarism is the ordained state of the race. The Indian will bring much to the great race of which he is to be in time only a part. His contribution to human progress will be infinitely greater than if he retained his tribal entity.

After our editorial pages are made up, the news comes that Judge Pendleton, of Atlanta, Ga., has decided the suit in that state in favor of the opponents of union. The substance of the court's decree is in the following words: "The union between the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. and the Cumberland Presbyterian church was null and void. The ac-

A. H. Sars, L.L.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: "It is indeed a marvelous work. It is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we have expected to find in such a work, but also what few of us would have dreamed of looking for."

FLEMING-HANBERY

(From Friday's Daily)

D. W. Hanbery and Miss Lavinia Fleming were married yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride near Herndon. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. J. A. Kirtley, of this city. The wedding was a quiet home affair, no one being present except the immediate families and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hanbery came to Hopkinsville and will reside on Alumnae avenue.

The bride, whose womanly virtues have endeared her to all who know her, is the daughter of Thomas Fleming. The groom is a citizen of sterling worth who has held the position of carrier of rural free mail delivery route No. 3 out of this city since it was first established.

ITCHING SCALP FALLING HAIR

Came Out Constantly—Hair Finally Had to Be Cut to Save Any—Scalp Now in Good Condition and No More Itching—Another Effective

CURE BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I will gladly give you all the information concerning my case. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for a diseased scalp, dandruff, and constant falling of hair. Finally I had to cut my hair to save my scalp. Just at that time I read about the Cuticura Remedies. Once every week I shampooed my hair with the Cuticura Soap, and I used the Ointment twice a week. In two months' time my hair was long enough to do up in French twist. That is now five years ago, and I have a lovely head of hair. The length is six inches below my waist line, my scalp is in very good condition, and no more dandruff or itching of the scalp. I used other remedies that were recommended to me as good, but with no results. If you wish to publish any of what I have written you, you are welcome to do so. I am, respectfully, Mrs. W. F. Griess, Clay Center, Neb., Oct. 23, 1905."

WANTED A RIDE

And Unknown Man Stole Horse From Mr. Carroll.

(From Friday's Daily)
A valuable horse was stolen last night from Mack Carroll, of South Walnut street, and this morning the animal was found grazing in the corn field of "Squire T. M. Barker at Kennedy. In the corner of the fence was also a black riding saddle which had been taken from some one else.

It is supposed the person who took the horse merely wanted to go as far as Kennedy and after reaching "Squire Barker's he decided he had gone far enough. He evidently dismounted and turned the horse into field himself and placed the saddle and bridle in the fence corner.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Hopkinsville.

Most Hopkinsville people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk, riding on jolting wagons or carts, doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cures sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Hopkinsville cures prove it.

John J. Basford, cooper, of 766 E. 9th St., says: "My back used to be so lame and sore at times that when I bent it was all I could do to straighten up again. The pains were always with me and I could not stand for any length of time without feeling them. I doctored at one time but did not obtain the slightest benefit. My attention was called to an advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills and I determined to try them. I got a box and after using them a few days could not help but notice a marked improvement in my condition. My health is better now than it has been in years. I give all the credit to Doan's Kidney Pills, and strongly recommend them to others."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON II, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 14.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxv, 1-13. Memory Verses, 1, 2—Golden Text, Matt. xxv, 13—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association.)
During this last week Jesus seems to have continued teaching in the temple from day to day, saying, as always, only what the Father told Him to say (John xii, 49, 50), assuring those who heard that all who believed Him and His words would be judged for it at the appointed time. Concerning Matt. xxiii Gresswell says that "Jesus being about to leave the temple for the night and at the same time to make an end of His ministry in public, denounces penal retribution for a series of offenses upon His old and inveterate enemies, the scribes and Pharisees, in 'these eight times repeated.' It would be interesting and profitable to contrast these woes with the beatitudes of Matt. v. In the end of the chapter He foretold the destruction of Jerusalem and her desolation until His return. In Matt. xxiv we read that as they left the temple His disciples called His attention to the buildings and the goodly stones and gifts, but to their surprise He said that all would be thrown down. Then as He sat on the Mount of Olives, over against the temple, four of the disciples, Peter and James and John and Andrew, came to Him privately and asked Him several questions concerning the fulfillment of His words. His replies to their questions are found in Matt. xxiv and xxv, Mark xiii and Luke xxi, so that our lessons today and next week are part of that great discourse, which touches chiefly upon the end of that age and the end of this one, but with some reference to the whole intervening age, which must now be drawing to a close. Inasmuch as the church, His body, the mystery not made known in other ages, but revealed especially to Paul (Eph. iii, 4-6; Rom. xvi, 25, 26), was not in the questions asked nor in the topics touched upon we may not read the church into this discourse, but may, as in all Scripture, apply the practical lessons to ourselves. Take these few as examples: 'Take heed that no man deceive you! See that ye be not troubled! Watch! Be ready!' (xxiv, 4, 6, 12, 44). The kingdom of heaven was at hand while Jesus was here until He was rejected and with Him the kingdom, but since then the kingdom is in abeyance, waiting for His coming again in glory (Matt. xvi, 27; xxiv, 30), which shall be immediately after the great tribulation (xxiv, 21, 29). Before that tribulation (Rev. vi-xviii) the church is taken away to meet the Lord in the air (I Thess. iv, 16; Rev. iv and v; iii, 10) that she may be married to Him and return with Him to set up His kingdom (Rev. xix and xx; I Thess. iii, 13; Zech. xiv, 5). Somewhere in that connection we may expect to see the fulfillment of the parable of our lesson. In the Vulgate, the Syriac and at least one other manuscript the reading is that the virgins went forth to meet the bridegroom and the bride. That would make the interpretation the same as in Luke xii, 36, where certain ones are told to wait for their lord when he will return from the wedding, or as in Rev. xix, 9, "The marriage supper of the Lamb." The difference between the bride and the virgins may be seen in Ps. xlv, 9-14; but, whether it be the marriage or the marriage supper or any phase of the kingdom, some will not be there who might have been if they had only been ready.

In that other sermon on the mount He said, "Not every one that saith unto Me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of My Father, which is in heaven" (Matt. vii, 21). In the same connection He spoke of the wise, who built upon the rock, and the foolish, who built upon the sand. There is only one rock foundation, which God Himself has laid (Matt. xvi, 18, 19; I Cor. iii, 11; Eph. ii, 20), and all who build on Him can never be lost. But every truly saved soul is building that which may be rewarded or burned up and lost (I Cor. iii, 11-15), and these wise and foolish virgins suggest to us that phase of the Christian life. Lamps without oil are of no use whatever, however beautiful they may be, and the most beautiful, talented, refined, cultured person counts for nothing before God without the oil of the Holy Spirit, who is given to every one truly receiving Christ. These ten all had oil in their lamps, and their lamps were burning, but with five of them their lamps were going out (verse 8, margin), not gone out.

All believers should be like the lamps with sleep with the transfiguration and actually sleeping in Gethsemane. See the two olive trees; then the light would never flicker, much less be going out. The command in Luke xii, 35, is most practical and always applicable. Let your loins be girded and your lights burning. At noon today a young man, who youth, attempting to recover it, fell out of the vehicle. Chief of Police buggy belonged to Mrs. L. L. Leav-

(From Monday's Daily)

Dudley, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Wood, Jr., met with an extremely painful accident today.
While playing with her brother,
Hunter, her right fore finger was ac-nearly cut off at the first joint. Physicians were promptly summoned and the severed part of the finger was sewed back.

The little one came from under the influence of the anaesthetic nicely and is up and playing about the house this afternoon. The physicians think the finger may be saved intact.

er "True Bills."

(From Friday's Daily)

The grand jury yesterday returned a batch of thirty-six indictments making a total of fifty returned up to this time. They were continued and will probably be in session several days yet.

One of the indictments is against the Dalton Stone company charging them with maintaining a common nuisance in the blowing of their steam whistle during the night. The indictment charges that the stone company did "unlawfully and wilfully at its stone quarry blow a steam whistle loud and continuously at unnecessary and unreasonable hours in the night time and at all hours of the night, in such manner as to arouse from their slumbers and disturb in their rest all the citizens residing and having a right to reside within the neighborhood of said
stone quarry."

There are several indictments charging selling liquor without license. Ten of these are against Joe Ledford, of Pee Dee, and he is also charged with selling liquor on Sunday and with permitting liquor to be drunk on his premises.

Dr. T. D. Rudd is indicted for assault and battery, it being charged that he struck his wife with his fist.
Mrs. Annie Weaver is also indicted for assault and battery, she being charged with having beaten a child.

Calvin Yancey is indicted for criminal assault.

Malicious mischief is the charge brought against Willie Foster. It is charged that Foster placed an axe in a bundle of wheat which was fed into the thrasher of Riley & Carter, badly injuring the machine.

The suit of Mary Williams, colored, against Gray & Gates for $500 damages is being heard today.

A motion was filed this morning in circuit court for a new trial in the case of Mrs. Fannie Hille vs. The Hopkinsville Sewerage Company and Gardner & Robertson.

ENGLISH PHEASANTS

Several Seen Near the City.—Only Ones in the County.

A few years ago some ring-neck English pheasants were liberated in the county with the view of having them propagate and eventually stock
the county with this beautiful game bird.

There were several pairs of them
which scattered on different farms;
some in the neighborhood of G. L.
Campbell's, some on the farm of Mrs. J. C. Moore and others near
W. A. Glass'. They were seen now and then, the first season, and a brood was thought to have been reared on the Glass farm, the second year; but after that they all disappeared, except one cock that was located on the farm of Peter Tribble, in the spring of last year. This seemed to be the only one left and took up his abode near the house seeking companionship with the domestic fowls, and fanning out "the old rooster" occasionally. Mr. Tribble procured a mate for him but,
after several days, they both disappeared and were never seen again.
Yesterday, however, Miss Ida Carloss telephoned that a hen pheasant and several young ones had just been seen on her father's farm and that one was at that time in a tree in their yard. She expressed a purpose to give them all of the protection possible and it is hoped that every one else will do likewise and let them pass through the winter unmolested.

TAKEN INTO CITY

IS THE BELL ADDITION IN SOUTH SUBURBS.

(From Saturday's Daily)
An order was spread on the circuit court records yesterday officially taking into the city limits the property on the east side of South Virginia street known as the Bell addition. This petition was filed several months ago but under the law it had to lie over for four terms of court before final action could be taken. This having been done the property is now a part of the city of Hopkinsville.

The jury in the case of Mary Williams, colored, against Gray & Gates, for $500 damages returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $50. She claimed that she hired a rig on July 16 to go to Pembroke and that an incompetent and careless driver was put in charge of the team and that near Salubria the surry was overturned causing serious damage to her right shoulder and arm.

DANIEL SUBURBAN POULTRY YARDS
Cumberland Phone 718

(From Saturday's Daily)

Lindsay Leavell, alias Crab, was shot and probably mortally wounded early this morning near Pembroke by John Goode, a white man whose family it is alleged the negro had insulted yesterday afternoon in the absence of the head of the house. Mr. Goode used a shotgun and fired three times and left his man probably fatally wounded on the ground. He came directly here and surrendered to Judge Cook when today's session of circuit court convened. He was ordered to be placed in jail where he will remain until the grand jury, which is now in session, investigates and reports on the case.

According to the story as told by Mr. Goode, Leavell, in company with another negro, went to his place yesterday afternoon with a load of fertilizer. They first drove to the house where they learned from one of the children that their father was away from home. After going to the barn the negroes returned and Leavell entered the house and made indecent remarks both to Mrs. Goode and the children, six in number. The negroes also went into the orchard and helped themselves to apples, and while they were there Mrs. Goode took her five-months-old baby in her arms and took flight across the field toward a neighbor's house. She was seen by the negroes after she had gotten some distance away and they at once jumped in the wagon and left the place with the mules going at full speed.

Mr. Goode did not return home until after dark when he was told of the occurrence by his wife. This morning he arose early and taking his shotgun and four loaded shells he went to the farm of Richard K. McCrae, Jr., where the negro was employed and found him digging potatoes. He walked up and raised his gun and fired at the negro's head but the latter threw up the basket into which he was putting the potatoes and most of the shot lodged in it. The negro then ran and the second charge was fired into his side as he turned and fell to the ground. Hastily reloading his gun Mr. Goode stepped up within a short distance and as the negro raised himself on his elbow the third load was fired point blank into his face. Mr. Goode remounted his horse and came directly here, not even returning to his home.

The gun was turned over to the sheriff and when examined one chamber contained an empty shell while the other held one loaded with No. 7 shot.

The other negro, while he accompanied Leavell, did not make the insulting remarks or act in such an offensive manner as did his companion, but this morning when Mr. Goode started up to where Leavell was working the other negro, who was calling hogs close by, took to his heels, evidently surmising the purpose upon which Mr. Goode was bent.

Mr. Goode lives about a mile and a half from Pembroke. This is the second time he has had trouble with a negro, he having shot one in the arm some time ago after the negro had thrown an iron weight at him. He formerly owned and operated a livery stable in this city.

Leavell was removed by other negroes to his cabin and Pembroke physicians are attending him. It is not believed that he can recover.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

THE WORST DISEASE IN THE WORLD

Contagious Blood Poison is the worst disease in the world; not only those who contract it suffer, but the awful taint is often transmitted to innocent offspring whose lives are blighted and bodies diseased because the virus of Contagious Blood Poison has been allowed to remain in the family blood. The first sign of this disease is usually a little pimple or blister, then a red rash breaks out, the mouth and throat ulcerate, the hair comes out, copper colored spots appear on the limbs, back and breast; and as the disease more thoroughly pollutes the blood, sores and ulcers form and if the trouble is not checked the finger nails drop off, and the soft bones destroyed. S. S. S. goes down into the blood and forces out every particle of the poison and makes a complete and lasting cure. As soon as the system gets under the influence of the remedy the symptoms begin to pass away, and when the cure is complete the patient is left in perfect health. So thoroughly does S. S. S. rid the system of the disease is ever seen in after years, and posterity is born with a rich, pure blood supply. Book with complete instructions for home treatment and any medical advice desired will be given without charge.

Dear Sir:—It is a source of pleasure for me to permit you to use my picture before and after cured by "ZEMO," and to tell what "ZEMO" did for me. I doctored this case of (Acne) pimples for six years and spent several hundred dollars with physicians and specialists. The more salves and creams I used, the worse my face became. Mr. Ira Blackman recommended "ZEMO." Eight bottles entirely cured me, and I honestly believe "ZEMO" is the best remedy in the world for any skin disease.

They Stand Alone.

Standing out in bold relief, all alone, and as a conspicuous example of open, frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, are Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, over-worked, debilitated, nervous, run-down, pain-racked women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous remedy for weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness, all catarrhal affections whether of the stomach, bowels, bladder, nasal passages, throat, bronchia, or other mucous passages, also as an effective remedy for all diseases arising from thin, watery or impure blood, as scrofulous and skin affections.

Each bottle of the above medicines bears upon its wrapper a badge of honesty in the full list of ingredients composing it—printed in plain English. This frank and open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves, and is the best guaranty of their merits. They cannot be classed as patent nor secret medicines for they are neither—being of known composition.

Dr. Pierce feels that he can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines freely before them because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended. Therefore, the afflicted do not have to rely alone upon Dr. Pierce's recommendation as to the curative value of his medicines for certain easily recognized diseases.

A glance at the printed formula on each bottle will show that no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines, they being wholly compounded of glyceric extracts of the roots of native American forest plants. These are best and safest for the cure of most lingering chronic diseases. Dr. R. V. Pierce can be consulted free, by addressing him at Buffalo, N. Y., and all communications are regarded as sacredly confidential.

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines sell them.

The Wings of The Morning

By LOUIS TRACY

Copyright, 1905, by Edward J. Glode

"He advised by me, Sir Arthur, and you, too, Iris," he said. "This is no hour for explanations. Leave me to deal with Lord Ventnor. I am content to trust the ultimate verdict to you, Sir Arthur. You will learn in due course all that has happened. Go on board, Iris. Meet Lord Ventnor as you would meet any other friend. You will not marry him, I know. I can trust you."

"I am very much obliged to you," murmured the baronet, who, notwithstanding his worry, was far too experienced a man of the world not to acknowledge the good sense of this advice, no matter how rudely might be the guise of the strange person who gave it.

"That is settled, then," said Robert, laughing good naturedly, for he well knew what a weird spectacle he must present to the bewildered old gentleman.

Even Sir Arthur Deane was fascinated by the rugged and hairy giant who carried himself so masterfully and helped everybody over the stile at the right moment. He tried to develop the change in the conversation.

"By the way," he said, "how came you to be on the Sirdar? I have a list of all the passengers and crew, and your name does not appear therein."

"Oh, that is easily accounted for. I shipped as a steward in the name of Robert Jenks."

"Robert Jenks! A steward?"

"Yes. That forms some part of the promised explanation."

Iris rapidly gathered the drift of her lover's wishes.

"Come, father," she cried merrily. "I am itching to see what the ship's stores, which you and Robert pin your faith to, can do for me in the shape of garments. I have the utmost belief in the British navy, and even a skeptic should be convinced of its infallibility if H. M. S. Orient is able to provide a lady's outfit."

Sir Arthur Deane gladly availed himself of the proffered compromise. He assisted Iris into the boat, though that active young person was far better able to support him, and a word to the officer in command sent the gig flying back to the ship. Anstruther during a momentary delay made a small request on his own account. Lieutenant Playdon, nearly as big a man as Robert, dispatched a note to his servant, and the gig speedily returned with a complete assortment of clothing and linen.

The man also brought a dressing case, with the result that a dip in the bath and ten minutes in the hands of an expert valet made Anstruther a new man.

Acting under his advice, the bodies of the dead were thrown into the lagoon, the wounded were collected in the hut, to be attended to by the ship's surgeon, and the prisoners were paraded in front of Mr. Jan, who identified every man and found by counting heads that none was missing.

Robert did not forget to write out a formal notice and fasten it to the rock. This proceeding further mystified the officers of the Orient, who had gradually formed a connected idea of the great fight made by the shipwrecked pair, though Anstruther squirmed inwardly when he thought of the manner in which Iris would picture the scene.

As it was, he had the first innings, and he did not fail to use the opportunity. In the few terse words which the militant Briton best understands he described the girl's fortitude, her unflinching cheerfulness, her uncomplaining readiness, to do and dare.

When he ended, the first lieutenant, who commanded the boats sent in pursuit of the flying Dyaks—the Orient sank both sampans as soon as they were launched—summed up the general verdict:

"You do not need our admiration, Captain Anstruther. Each man of us envies you from the bottom of his soul."

"There is an error about my rank," he said. "I did once hold a commission in the Indian army, but I was court-martialed and cashiered in Hongkong six months ago. I was unjustly convicted on a grave charge, and I hope some day to clear myself. Meanwhile I am a mere civilian. It was only Miss Deane's generous sympathy which led her to mention my former rank, Mr. Playdon."

Had another of the Orient's twelve pounder shells suddenly burst in the midst of the group of officers it would have created less dismay than this unexpected avowal. Court-martialed! Cashiered! None but a service man can grasp the awful significance of those words to the commissioned ranks of the army and navy.

Anstruther well knew what he was doing. Somehow he found nothing hard in the performance of these penances now. Of course the ugly truth must be revealed the moment Lord Ventnor heard his name. It was not fair to the good fellows crowding around him and offering every attention that the frank hospitality of the British sailor could suggest to permit them to adopt the tone of friendly equality which rigid discipline if nothing else would not allow them to maintain.

The first lieutenant by reason of his rank was compelled to say something. "That is a devilish bad job, Mr. Anstruther," he blurted out.

"Well, you know I had to tell you." He smiled unaffectedly at the wondering circle. He, too, was an officer and appreciated their sentiments. They were unfeignedly sorry for him, a man so brave and modest, such as generally type of the soldier and gentleman, yet by their common law an outcast. Not could they wholly understand his demeanor. There was a noble dignity in his candor, a conscious innocence that disdained to shield itself under a partial truth.

The first lieutenant again phrased the thoughts of his juniors.

"I and every other man in the ship cannot help but sympathize with you. But whatever may be your record—you were an escaped convict, Mr. Anstruther—no one could withhold from you the praise deserved for your magnificent stand against overwhelming odds. Our duty is plain. We will bring you to Singapore, where the others will no doubt wish to go immediately. I will tell the captain what you have been good enough to acquaint us with. Meanwhile we will give you every assistance and—er—attention in our power."

A murmur of approbation ran through the little circle. Robert's face paled somewhat. What first rate chaps they were, to be sure!

"I can only thank you," he said unsteadily. "Your kindness is more trying than adversity."

A rustle of silk, the intrusion into the tent knot of men of a young lady in a Paris gown, a Paris hat, carrying a Trouville parasol and most exquisitely gloved and booted, made every one gasp.

"Oh, Robert, dear, how could you? I actually didn't know you!"

Thus Iris, bewitchingly attired, was gazing now with provoking admiration at Robert, who certainly offered almost as great a contrast to his former state as did the girl herself. He returned her look with interest.

"Would any man believe," he laughed, "that clothes would do so much for a woman?"

"What a left handed compliment! But come, dearest, Captain Fitzroy and Lord Ventnor have come ashore with father and me. They want us to show them everything! You will excuse him, won't you?" she added, with a seraphic smile to the others.

They walked off together.

"Jimmy!" gasped a fat midshipman to a lanky youth. "She's got on your toes!"

Meaning that Iris had ransacked the Orient's theatrical wardrobe and pounced on the swell outfit of the principal female impersonator in the ship's company.

RULE RESCINDED

Requiring Democrats To State They Voted For Congressman.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9.—The Democratic state executive committee last night rescinded the rule requiring voters to state that they have voted for a Democratic candidate for congress in the regular election before they can vote in the primary.

The action was to stop a suit filed at Bowling Green attacking the legality of the primary.

MUST HAVE THEATER

ENTERPRISING CITIZENS LAY PLANS TO GET ONE.

It is Proposed to Erect in Hopkinsville Playhouse to Cost About $40,000.

At a meeting of citizens held Monday night at Hotel Latham in the interest of the proposition to build a new theater, the steps taken and the enthusiasm manifested made the outlook for the enterprise highly encouraging, and there is every reason to believe that by the beginning of another season Hopkinsville will have a playhouse worthy of the city.

A feature of the conference was an address by John C. Latham who, by invitation, met with the citizens. Mr. Latham has been approached on the opera house question a number of times and has made a study of the situation. His suggestions were of the greatest value and were incorporated into the plans by which the promoters will work in the effort to furnish Hopkinsville with an adequate theater building.

Mr. Latham told of his gratification in seeing the rapid commercial strides Hopkinsville was making, and said that the only thing in which every other good town in the country had outstripped us was in the way of wholesome pleasure and recreation, and that the lack of a suitable playhouse and comfortable halls and auditoriums for entertainments reflected discredit upon the city.

He dwelt upon the great value of such an enterprise as an advertisement showing that it would attract people to Hopkinsville from all over this region, keep the city in constant touch with the people of Christian and contiguous counties, and stimulate every line of business.

With a handsome theater equipped with all comforts and conveniences and with high class performances to witness, there could be no question that big audiences could be depended upon, and that such an opera house could be made a success from a financial standpoint. Mr. Latham thought that the theatre should not cost less than $40,000.

There was a general discussion and Mr. Latham's remarks were fully approved. The following committee was appointed to take in hand the preliminary details of the proposition:

M. C. Forbes
E. B. Long T. J. Tate
H. L. McPherson W. A. Wilgus
L. H. Davis John H. Bell, Jr.

The committee will have a meeting Thursday night at which time plans will be formulated to put the matter squarely up to the people. It is understood that if $20,000 stock is subscribed the committee will undertake to place a bond issue of $20,000. A handsome start was made last night when a number of the citizens present at the meeting subscribed amounts ranging from $10 to $1,000.

Mr. Latham, with his usual liberality, will give a handsome site for the theater on Liberty street, between Sixth and Seventh, on the lot adjoining Hotel Latham. He really prefers to give the committee his check for the value of the lot, but it is the general opinion that the location could not be improved on, and it is there that the theatre doubtless will be built.

Dr. T. W. Blakey was chairman of the meeting and H. L. McPherson secretary. Among those present were:

W. T. Tandy, M. C. Forbes, Sam Frankel, J. H. Bell, Jr., G. E. Gary, John C. Latham, T. W. Blakey, T. J. Tate, Nat Galtier, Gus Brannon, J. T. Edmunds, M. V. Dulin, Ferd Schmitt, L. H. Davis, E. R. Tandy, T. B. Fairleigh, Lee Ellis, Mose Elb, H. L. McPherson, T. C. Underwood, W. A. Wilgus.

EDMUNDS--WINFREE NUPTIALS

In the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends, Miss Lucy Edmunds and Mr. John Winfree were united Monday evening in the holy bonds of matrimony. Simplicity and taste characterized the appointments of the nuptials.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride on South Liberty street, and took place in the parlor. The interior of the residence was handsomely adorned with palms, smilax and white roses.

The service was said at a large alcove window which had been banked with flowers, forming a most attractive background for the impressive rites. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. W. L. Nourse, D. D. His remarks were beautiful and appropriate and he offered a feeling prayer for divine blessing upon the happy couple. There were no attendants. Dr. Nourse entered the parlor and stood at the place selected for the ceremony, and was then approached by Mr. Winfree and Miss Edmunds to the sweet strains of the wedding march which was rendered on the piano by Miss Florence Elgin. Just prior to the service, Mrs. H. A. Hardison, of Nashville, sister of the bridegroom, sang delightfully DeKoven's "O, Promise Me." The bride, who never looked lovelier, was attired in an exquisite blue silk gown, and Mr. Winfree wore the conventional evening clothes. After good wishes and congratulations were showered upon the couple, they were driven to the Louisville and Nashville depot where they left on a trip through the west, their destination being San Francisco, where they will make their home.

The marriage is the happy culmination of a long courtship, these popular young people having been sweethearts since youth. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Edmunds. Her beauty and graciousness have made her a favorite in society and admired by everyone. The fortunate bridegroom is a son of Judge and Mrs. W. P. Winfree, and there is no more popular young man in the community. He is traveling representative for the American Tobacco company and his services are highly valued. His territory is the western coast, and San Francisco is his headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfree were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents attesting the regard and affection in which they are held by their many friends.

ROYAL Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Hence it is that Royal Baking Powder renders the food remarkable both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.

No alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.
